Work Should be Extended Wherever the Need Rises Declares School Board Secretary

TWENTY THOUSAND ADULTS ARE STUDENTS IN BADGER STATE

Continuation School and Correspondence Courses

MADISON, Wis.—The education of adults through continuation schools and correspondence institutions should extend wherever there is a need for the satisfaction of the intellectual wants of people engaged in industry, E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of adult education in Wisconsin, says in a survey of adult education in Wisconsin.

At the present time over 20,000 persons over 21 years of age are pursuing studies through the continuation schools of the state alone, while other thousands are studying by correspondence through private schools and the University of Wisconsin extension division.

"Adult education is for everybody," Mr. Fitzpatrick said. "It ought to go wherever there is an educational need, but it also particularly to reach people who are not provided for in the regular educational system, or who, having left the regular educational system, have not found it possible through regular educational channels to continue their education formally."

"The method of adult education will largely be the method of the conference in which the teacher will lead, or perhaps more often guide the discussion into productive channels," the report explains. "The collective experience of the group, as well as the numerous points of view, must be permitted to be expressed and to be considered into a judgment that takes into account all the available information and the available experience."

"Adult education attempts to provide a person the opportunity to make up for neglected opportunities during childhood and youth, or for opportunities that were denied him because of economic conditions, or failure of adaptation of himself or of the school."

"The scheme of adult education would necessarily depend upon the present accomplishments of the individual. The deficiencies of his earlier education must be made up and the person entering upon this education will be handicapped to the degree of such deficiencies."

"Consequently the scheme of adult education is intended in no way as an alternative scheme for proper and long training of boys and girls during their youth."

University extension and continuation schools are pointed to as the two means of adult education used in Wisconsin, where the state is dealing with the problem more comprehensively than any other commonwealth.

Here you are girls! Put your money on the "Rollette," and you can't lose. That's what Dame Fashion tells us.

The "Rollette" is the newest thing in summer-time hosiery. It is the result of the "roll your own" habit that girls had last summer.

It does away with your having to worry about the possibility of a hand-rolled stocking rolling all the way down. Where the roll used to be there is now a suggestion of elastic and a bit of fluffy-ruffle that reaches to just below the knee—and stays there.

And here is another little tip. Your fancy pencil, or fountain pen, with the side clip will fit nicely into the "Rollette" stocking.

CHINESE STUDENTS ARE UNWELCOME IN BRITISH WORKSHOPS

Attitude of Britons in Contrast to that of American Manufacturers

LONDON.—Chinese students in England are complaining that British manufacturers are chary of admitting them to workshops, according to S. B. Fan, ex-secretary of the London Chinese Students' association. He contrasts this attitude with the practice in the United States and France, where, he says, every opportunity is given to Chinese students to combine work and study.

First Secretary Chu Chao Hsin of the Chinese embassy in London has just made some very pointed remarks in regard to the attitude of many English people toward China. He said that so-called friends of China sometimes remark "the most interesting thing would be to find out how to open up China."

Was it not fair, he urged, to ask whether China had not views of her own as to how she should be opened up? Judging from the way some people talked, Chu Chao Hsin continued, China was very much in the position of some joint at a sacrificial feast, with every guest trying to discuss how they could best carve it up to their own advantage, while all the time pretending they were really actuated by the greatest goodwill toward the animal which had furnished the chief dish.

He reminded his hearers that the American secretary of state, John Hay, who originated the policy of the "open door" had said: "Whoever understands China socially, politically, economically, religiously, holds the key to the world's politics for the next five centuries."

Fitness the Test

Governor Blaine has appointed Franklin Nace, Iowa farmer, a member of the board of University regents. This is interesting news to those who follow politics. Nonpartisan and labor groups had included in their 1920 programs a demand that the board of university regents should include one "dirt" farmer, and one laboring man. They considered Governor Blaine pledged to this program. The governor had named two regents prior to the Nace appointment, neither of them a farmer nor a laborer. Nonpartisans and labor leaders were incensed. They charged the governor with bad faith. They raised no question as to the qualifications of the regents named by the governor, but insisted only that one should have been a farmer and the other a laborer. Now that the governor has given them half a loaf by naming a farmer, they will be but half as angry as they were. Should the opportunity come to him to give labor a regent, and should he grasp it, labor would be as well satisfied as the farmers are likely to be.

A great many people objected to a set rule that a farmer and a laborer should be included in the board of university regents. Some farmers and laborers were convinced that this opposition was raised because the objectors did not want either a farmer or a laborer on the board of regents. Possibly a few people felt that way. But for the most part there was no objection to farmers and laborers on the board of regents. The point raised was that regents should be selected for their mental and spiritual equipment, or fitness, rather than because they were farmers or laborers or bankers or lawyers. Perhaps most farmers and laborers were ready to agree that ability and character are the real qualifications, rather than the business one happens to be. And so they felt that if labor and the farm were ever to get a word in edgewise in university government, they must specifically demand representation.

We do not know Farmer Nace. If he is qualified to be a regent of the university, we are for him. We are not for him because he is a farmer, any more than we are against him because he is a bank official, which happens to be the fact. Neither are we against him because he is a farmer. His qualifications, which from the fact of his appointment may be taken for granted, are what count. Nor would we be against a labor regent, were he qualified, any more than we would be against Colonel Seaman because he is a surgeon.

Perhaps it would be a good thing for governors to bear in mind that these two great groups, labor and the farmer, are interested in the university, and voluntarily to select from their ranks men for the board of regents who are qualified for the post. With the vast numbers of farmers and workers to choose from, it should always be possible to have one of each on the board who measure up to job. Were that the practice, we might have done with the idea of compelling such appointments by law. Take Regent Nace's point of view: He is a farmer, and doubtless he is proud of it. But who doubts that he wants to feel that Governor Blaine appointed him to the board of university regents, not because he is a farmer, but because he is eminently fitted for the important post!

Getting Rich

MARY PICKFORD'S income for two years was $1,123,625, according to court testimony in New York. The president of the United States makes that much in fifteen years. The average unskilled day laborer in eastern steel mills, making twenty cents an hour, would have to toil 2,265 years to earn as much as Mary gets in two years. Salaries of movie stars are almost as great marvels as the actual moving picture invention.

The tremendous incomes of movie stars illustrate a point that should be indelible in the brain of any one trying to get rich. This is the point: If Mary Pickford, for instance, appeared on the stage and had only one person or a few for an audience, her income would be only a few dollars a day. Such performers were the professional story-tellers of medieval Bagdad or modern Japan.

Then a theater is built and Mary can play to a couple of thousand people at each performance. Her income increases, abreast of the number she serves. The invention of the moving picture has enabled Mary to appear before an unlimited number of audiences simultaneously. Each member contributes his mite. The total of mites swells into an enormous salary for the performer.

The principle behind all this is the application of mass production to human service—the performing of service for the greatest number of people. The more people you assist or entertain, the greater your income.

Often you comment along these lines: Einstein, a super-scientist of the sort that appears only once in centuries, makes less money than the inventor of some trifling thing like the Eskimo pie, ice cream cone or safety pin. The answer to this is that Einstein serves only a small and limited number of customers—scientists—while the other inventors serve millions, each contributing his mite to the inventor.

In any scheme to get rich, don't forget the importance of doing something that will serve a great multitude. There is infinitely more wealth in inventing a shoe-lace with a tip that can't come off, than in originating a costly fashion or anything else that can have only a limited number of customers. Greatest profits come from serving the greatest numbers.

Bobbed

IN CHICAGO an average of 2,500 women a day are getting their hair bobbed. Is bobbed hair coming as a permanent institution? It is only a few generations since all men wore their hair long. No doubt, the men who pioneered the short-hair fad were ridiculed. A few years from now, the woman without bobbed hair may be a curiosity. Once cut, they generally like it. That is the first requisite for making a fad into an established custom.

Warehouses

SAYS the Wall Street Journal: "Taking into consideration the higher prices of raw materials, inventories of most companies are far below what they were in pre-war years." This means that stocks of goods in warehouses are low—below normal. Such a condition always is the tail-end of hard times. When bins are hungry, buying on a big scale is not far off.

A Debt In Equity

By MARTHA MCGILL WILLIAMS

Miss Elinor Garland took her letters from the mailbox, sighing deeply as she scanned them. Plenty of them—five in a row; yet not the other that was the hinge to her hopes. She had been looking for it two precious mornings. It seemed impossible that she could bear the strain of waiting longer.

It was not a love letter—rather cold business. Business vital to her present and future. Which meant, of course, it had to do with money. Money to save the home she might leave it with a good conscience to carve out a career. But not a cheering letter. Death would have been easier than anything of that sort. It had been hard enough to remind a rich man of a debt in equity. Law might not recognize it, but her grandfather had given him, then penniless, well-born, well-brained, his chance—education, a profession and maintenance through the waiting time it had taken for him to get foothold.

He had stammered, when he went, something about paying all later. His benefactor had smiled at him: "Pay by passing it on. Maybe you'll see plenty of other kids needing a helping hand." And so the two had parted without strain on either side.

If the man, Howard Lyle, had any sort of money, he must know the value of the security he had offered him. The plantation had been home to him in his vacations. He had come there for holidays in his days of struggling. True, it was not at all had been, but still well worth the money she needed—$2,000 without interest for five years, would let her turn her deft fingers, her eye for line and color, to deserved profit.

Then she would pay—to the last penny. Meanwhile, there was the land. It could neither die, run, nor wash away. Farmed in thriftily if easy fashion, it would keep granary, blind Aunt Nell, Aunt Joe and her boys comfortable, as they had always been. She had no artistic yearning, albeit she loved color and texture with real passion, but a mad desire to be active, doing things, being somebody, not in vainglory but because doing was her greatest joy.

Being all womanly, she sighed in secret for a home, a husband worthy of love, children and the delight of rearing them, but somehow none of the men who had hovered a while on the horizon had seemed to her the right one. That is to say, her ideal fought with her opportunity—and so far had won, hands down. She had somehow always contrasted her possible suitors with the Howard Lyle of her small-girl memory. He had been slim and tall and lithe, with a long face and a mouth forbidding save when he smiled.

Not handsome—still possessed of something that had put those others visible in the flesh out of court with her. She had built up romance around him—that he had married a year after leaving the neighborhood was the saddest thing she knew of him. That and his money—by law he had inherited the height of millions. If he had children—girls especially—she knew they were lucky; he was the sort to look after and cherish his own.

As she summarized her own reading of an opened letter, small and unassuming, she came, so swiftly that in a minute it was upon her. She drew aside with a start—the ear was so nearly noiseless it surprised her. It checked—a man sprang eagerly from it and caught her arm, saying: "I am—the answer to your letter. You would have had it earlier only I was away." Turning her to face him as he spoke, then almost staggering as he breathed rather than said, "Elinor Garland! You—you take me back to youth. It is uncanny—you might be the Elinor I knew then."

"You—you loved her?" Elinor asked with sudden shyness. He bowed his head. "She loved me too—better than herself. Do you know why she sent me away, her father abetting? Then did not tell me why—blindness was coming quickly—they would not let me carry the weight—and I never knew it until a month ago. Going through my wife's private papers after her death I found the letter that would have told me—and caused my soul of torment."

"Can you guess what it has meant to go all these years hugging a scorching flame? I thought they had weighed me in the balance and found me wanting. That is why I kept silence—strayed away from the best friends I ever had, all these years. And then came your letter—I can't tell you how it made me feel. But this much you must hear—all the money you need or want, or will touch, is yours for the taking. I have no child—you shall be as my own. Now, please me to Elinor, I cannot rest until

TOYS OF TOOTHPICKS AND PEAS

Half a pint of dried peas and a handful of toothpicks—here's something I'll bet you never tried to make toys of.

Soak the peas for a day in tepid water, which will make them soft and easy to work with. The toothpicks are used to fasten the peas together. You must be very careful in joining two peas, because they will split easily. After the peas have been soaked, on each pea you will find a tiny black spot on one end. This shows the place where the pea will split, and the stick should not be thrust in. Put the stick, instead, crosswise through the pea, so that when it dries the stick will hold it in such a way that it can't split.

sides of the wagon are formed by four short uprights and two long sticks joining them at the top on either side. The cardboard wheels are fastened to the wagon with pins, and the hubs are peas.

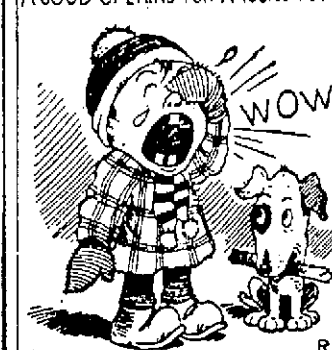

Can't you figure out how to make the bed and the chair all by yourself? You can make longer or shorter sticks, you know, by joining two toothpicks together with a pea.

You might try a rake, and—but that's telling you, and these toys are more fun when you invent some for yourself.

all she knows the truth. Can she bear it?"

"She can bear—anything," Elinor said proudly. "I never knew, but always I have felt she was the stuff that makes martyrs. And because I have her name, I want to do it credit. For her sake, you may help me all that is good for me. Work that I love is my real joy."

"Come! I fear you will vanish unless I keep you close," Howard Lyle answered, half lifting her into the car. Then he said to the chauffeur, "Take her home, even as she herself has been. 'Make room, Billy—and drive your prettiest. We are freighted something more precious than gold.'"

Aunt Nell on the porch, her fingers cling in and out of bright, waxy, orange breath and half rose, leaning forward as the car halted at the steps. She was transparently lovely, there in the flickering light arching over with pink rose-clusters, her eyes as beautiful as ever, though sightless turned toward the sound. As her sometime lover sprang toward her, she gave a low cry: "Howard! At last!" and sank back trembling all through. But the tremors ceased when he lifted her to his breast, murmuring in her silver hair, "Elinor, Elinor, darling, I never knew."

Billy looked away. Niece Elinor silently waved him around the drive—there was a parking space back. She followed him quickly, her eyes humid, but her lips smiling. As she came upon Billy—he had been duly presented as Lyle's private secretary she said with a little catch between each word, "Do you think even this 'nodding backward toward the porch' can make up to them for—the wasted years?"

Billy shook his head, but said after a minute: "Maybe they were not quite wasted. You see, Mrs. Lyle was good to him in many ways. Her money helped him rise—he would have gone up any way—but he got in his stride of doing good without waiting for the two of them have been a sort of special providence to so many young folks—and old. She would have been lavish; he held her to generosity. I never heard his love story, but he told me of all he owed your grandfather, and how he felt honor-bound to pay as he had been. You never saw his name, and rarely hers among big givers—donors. I believe, is the word for them. But that is more than offset by what I know. I've been with him five years, remember. I—I couldn't bear to look

"Then I forgive her," Elinor said softly.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—Two departments of state government which in former years functioned in a rather static manner have taken on new life, and are now carrying on their work in an aggressive and progressive way. Reference has already been made in this correspondence to the work of Attorney General Morgan, who from the week the lock office set about to serve the state as an active business man would serve a corporation which employed him. Mr. Morgan wasn't satisfied merely to wait in his office until called upon to perform some perfunctory duty, but he began to seek for opportunities to where he could legitimately serve the state. As a result the attorney general's office is now one of the busiest offices in the capitol.

The other department referred to is that of the commissioner of banking. Mr. Cousins, the commissioner, is himself a successful banker of many years' experience, and understands the business in all of its ramifications. He is using his office therefore not as a mere department of bank examiners and clerks but as an influence to institute better and safer banking. He has large discretionary powers which he freely uses. More perhaps in the business of banking than in any other line careful habits bring serious results. A banker may live up to the letter of the law, and yet be doing business in an indolent manner. Commissioner Cousins conceived it to be his duty to improve banking conditions and practices wherever he can. The banking department therefore is no longer static, but is carrying on its work in a way that is certain to bring better banking practices. Recently the commissioner sent out the following to the state banks: "Complaints have been filed as to the manner in which a few banks have handled business sent them through the mails. Letters containing checks and cash items have been held over several days before remitting; collections have not been remitted on day of payment; bills of lading have been delivered before drafts to which they were attached were paid; items sent subject to protest have not been protested when dishonored, and in some instances banks have neglected to reply to inquiries as to such business and have ignored tracers. A bank is expected and will be required to give the same care and attention to business sent it through the mails as it gives to business coming over the counter. In the event a bank fails to make remittance for checks or cash items before the close of business of the day following receipt, it will be considered the bank has suspended payment."

Now farmers fully realize how important is the farm poultry flock as a source of income, states Joseph A. Becker, crop reporter, department of agriculture. The value of poultry production in 1921 is estimated at $24,480,000 as compared to $21,547,000 in 1920, and $33,347,000 in 1919. Egg production totaled 74,075,000 dozen as compared with 75,565,000 in 1920 and 74,304,000 in 1919. Value of eggs produced was $21,218,000 compared with $22,403,000 in 1920, and $20,722,000 in 1919. Production per hen averaged 82 eggs for the year as compared with 85 in 1920 and 1919. Average value per dozen was 28.3 cents as compared with 43 cents in 1920 and 40 cents in 1919. Poultry of all kinds sold for slaughter or slaughtered on farms totaled $3,420,000 as compared to $3,551,000 in 1920 and $3,267,000 in 1919. Value of poultry for meat was $8,262,000, compared to $9,854,000 in 1920 and $10,625,000 in 1919. Average value per pound was 18.9 cents as compared with 22.7 cents in 1920 and 22.3 in 1919.

The industrial commission reports concerning employment condition that factories and mines in Wisconsin employed 7 of one per cent more employees in January than in December but their total payrolls decreased 6.3 per cent and the average weekly earnings of employees 7.4 per cent. As compared with July, 1920, the number of employees is 33.2 per cent less while total wages paid showed a decrease of 52.6 per cent and average weekly earnings 28.5 per cent. Boots and shoes, hosiery and other knit goods and printing and publishing are the only industries which now have more employees than in July, 1920. The public employment offices made 284 verified placements in second week of February as compared with 525 during the same week a year ago.

The state tax commission finds that one of the difficult features of administering the income tax law is to make people understand that whether they have a taxable income or not they must fill out the blanks sent to them. The only way the commission can determine whether any one should pay an income tax is by the filled-in return that is required from every one by law.

DISCOVER RACE IN PERU WHICH KILLS OFF AGED MEMBERS

Each Village Has Official Named to Determine How Long Each Man Shall Live

BOSTON, Mass.—High in the fastnesses of the Andes mountains of Peru there lives a race which sets an age limit and kills off all of its people who reach the fateful mark.

This is the statement of Dr. Joseph Barcroft, British scientist and author, who headed an expedition to Peru to study the effect of high altitudes on the oxygen content of the blood. The party spent practically all its time at Cerro de Pasco, a mining town of 10,000 inhabitants 11,200 feet above the sea level.

"In each village," said Dr. Barcroft, "is a series of lectures at Lowell Institute. An official is appointed to terminate the careers of persons who live too long."

Different communities, however, seem to have different ideas as to what limit should be placed on human existence. In some places the only duty of the executioner appears to be to secure the presence of a man at his own funeral in the title role. If a person becomes so ill that his funeral becomes a certainty in the near future, a date is fixed for the same and if the leading figure shows a disposition to be unpunctual, the village executioner takes the matter in hand.

"Not far from a mine that yields a great part of the world's emeralds, there is, so we are told, a settlement of 'Cholos' (the name by which the natives are designated) who treat this matter on purely economic and unsentimental grounds. When one of the inhabitants becomes too old he is eaten by the community and cheerfully acquiesces in the procedure."

Dr. Barcroft is a fellow and lecturer at King's college, Cambridge University, fellow of the Royal Society and the author of a widely used text on "The Respiratory Function of the Blood."

The Andes natives studied by the party of investigators are of Indian descent, possibly from the Quechua Indians, according to one of the scientists. They live in adobe hovel and are said never to remove their clothing. The household furnishings are so meager that the housewife puts them into a sack and carries them with her every time she goes shopping or visiting.

The natives are very shy and appear to have no diversions aside from chewing coca leaves, from which modern scientists extract cocaine.

The extremely high altitudes at which they live seem not to affect the natives except to furnish them with a barrel-like formation of the chest. They are very strong, but move slowly.

BLINDNESS IN U. S. REDUCED BY BETTER MEDICAL KNOWLEDGE

Blind Population Decreased by Nearly Five Thousand in Ten-Year Period

CHICAGO, Ill.—Improvement in medical knowledge, particularly in care devoted to infants, and education of the public, reduced the blind population of the United States nearly 5,000 in the ten year period covered by the 1920 census, according to the journal of the American Medical Association.

In 1910 the census showed 57,272 blind persons, while ten years later the number was 52,617. Analyzing the census figures, the Journal points out that the ratio of 49.8 blind persons per hundred thousand population averages one victim of blindness to every 2,000. Males predominate over females by about three to two.

Blindness is most common among Indians, with about 200 blind per hundred thousand population, or four times the rate for the country as a whole. Negroes also have a comparatively large amount of blindness, with 60 per hundred thousand. There are 48.5 blind per hundred thousand white persons, and only 23.2 per hundred thousand among the Japanese and Chinese.

Of the geographic divisions, New England has the greatest amount of blindness, with 63.5 per hundred thousand, while the lowest rate is in the west south central states, with but 41.6. Of the states, New Mexico tops the list with 152.2 per hundred thousand, and Wyoming is at the bottom with only 15.4.

By unanimous consent, switching fees were left as last year, $1 per month for business houses; 40 cents for residences.

WOMAN ELECTROCUTED BY ELECTRIC HEATER INQUEST IS WAIVED

Wife of Omaha Man is Victim of Peculiar Accident

OMAHA, Neb.—There will be no inquest, the county attorney announced, into the death late Thursday of Mrs. Frances Devereaux, prominent Omaha society woman, who was accidentally electrocuted in a bath-tub by an electric heater.

Mrs. Devereaux was a daughter of Edward B. Clark, Washington, D. C., correspondent for the Chicago Evening Post.

The heater, according to Dr. J. Henske, was found on a damp towel which was wrapped about her foot. It had fallen into the tub in which there was no water, or had been placed there by Mrs. Devereaux to warm her feet.

A nurse's attention was attracted by Mrs. Devereaux's two small children who had heard their mother scream. The children tried to open the bathroom door, but a locksmith had to be called to unlock it. Mrs. Devereaux was dead when reached.

Mrs. Devereaux's husband, Frederick N. Devereaux, general sales agent for the Bell Telephone Securities company, was in Milwaukee at the time.

MILK PLAY FINE FEATURE OF DRIVE CONDUCTED IN CITY

little play will be "handed down" to children for a goodly number of years.

Judge Essay Contest
The following committee has been appointed to judge the essay contest conducted by the La Crosse County Community Council: Miss Anna Coleman, Miss Katherine Martindale and Mrs. Blanche Chamberlain. County school posters will be judged Saturday afternoon by Miss Zerler, Mrs. Chamberlain and Miss Angel.

Yesterday morning at 10:30, before the student body, teachers and many interested citizens the model department of the State Normal school presented the milk fairies play. The play is written and copyrighted by the National Dairy Council, Chicago. The costumes for this play were rented from the University of Wisconsin.

Seldom has one seen a prettier sight than this little play. From the minute the little under-nourished boy began his story until the doctor had his say the attention of the audience was held. The first group of fairies to enter were the butter fairies. These fairies were dressed in lovely butter yellow colored costumes, and as they entered they spelled what they represented.

The next group of fairies, mineral matter, fairies in dainty pink. Then came a group of healthy boys in purple caps and suits. These boys as protea were anxious to show their power and strength, which they did to the delight of the audience. Next were the dainty, sweet little fairies in white who looked just what they were—sugar.

Then came the spring green fairies in dainty green like fresh new spring leaves. This large group were vitamin fairies. The group was large because more vitamins are in milk than any other food. Then too they were green because they are found in some green vegetables and leaves like spinach and lettuce. Then there was the dance of all the fairies and many little songs, which the children sang well. Then entered the healthy roly polly bubbling over with life little boy who drinks lots of milk and gave advice to his sickly companion that to stay any place he must be strong and to be strong one must have good solid bones, firm muscles and a strong heart. The best building material for these is milk.

Then the little boy wakes up and tells his mother about the beautiful dream he has had of the fairies and the milk bottle and begs her to get him a glass of milk in a hurry. Just as he starts to drink his milk the doctor arrives to find him drinking the milk that he had been many days trying to persuade him to do. The children then sang Drink Milk Children to the tune of Good Night Ladies.

Miss Carter and her assistants deserve much praise for preparing and presenting this charming instructive little play with their two days to prepare it. In their presentation it is such a way that both old and young will never forget the beautiful fairies milk contains nor what they will do for you.

C. A. HUNT MINUTE LATE IN COURT; IS FINED $4; REMITTED

C. A. Hunt, juror in the circuit court, was a minute late in reporting for jury duty Friday morning. At 9 a. m. every juror was in the box to hear the case of the Standard Paper company against the Lennon Paper company. At 9:01 a. m. Mr. Hunt appeared in the courtroom.

Judge Hieser informed him that he was late and assessed a fine of $4.

Mr. Hunt pleaded that he had some distance to come to the courthouse. "I live at 17th and Main street, your honor," said Mr. Hunt.

"I have further to come than you," replied the court. "I live at 16th and Ferry street, and I could get here on time."

However, the court relented to the extent that he remitted the fine.

from La Crosse county and we have to strain them to keep them from going back."

Mrs. Jones brought out that "La Crosse has five-sixths of a cow for every person in the county."

Wisconsin has 2 cows for every 3 persons in the state.

That "Clean milk did not mean milk that had been strained but milk with a low bacterial count."

"Chicago considers milk clean and safe when it has a ten thousand bacteria count but we have tested milk in Wisconsin whose test is as low as 800 bacteria count."

Cause Tuberculosis
"That 20 percent of the cases of tuberculosis in 1921 were cases of bovine tuberculosis," coming of course from impure milk. In regard to children not liking foods and not eating things they don't like, Mrs. Jones said: "Why children if you were between home and this school when a heavy rain began to pour, would you stand still and say 'I don't like it' No you'd plow right ahead as fast as you could and so you should go ahead with the foods you don't like. Parents should see that the food they put on a table is eaten by every member of the family. The duty of building up bodies is the whole family's job. If father says he doesn't like a thing what can you expect of the children."

Radakovich, at the preliminary hearing last March, claimed self-defense and was given his freedom. The American Legion post of Iron River, Wis., appealed to Governor J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin, maintaining that the Murley court was not justified in giving Radakovich his freedom and the governor called the second preliminary hearing which resulted in the murder trial.

Chats With Your Gas Man

Whenever a gas bill is abnormally large there is always a complete explanation for it, when all the facts and circumstances connected with the case are known.

For instance, when you find a sudden or unusual increase in your bill, ask yourself:

- Has the weather been to blame?
- Has there been sickness in the house?
- Have I had company during the period?
- Have the servants or others used more gas than I am aware of?
- Have any additional gas appliances been installed during the period?
- Are there any other circumstances or occurrences that will account for the increase in my bill?

If you recall no reason come to us first (do not go to your neighbors) and we will do our utmost to help you locate the cause. If we find that a mistake has been made we will cheerfully correct the error. We are here to serve you.

QUARTETTE OF CHICAGO'S THEATRICAL LANDMARKS SLATED FOR DESTRUCTION

CHICAGO—Four of Chicago's theatrical landmarks—monuments to the business acumen of a song and dance comedian, a medicine show magnate, a minstrel manager and a pair of circus men—are slated for destruction.

Workmen have already begun sinking caissons under McVickers, most venerable of the downtown theatres, and the wreckers will take charge in May. George M. Cohan's Grand Opera House, the Towers and the Olympic are soon to follow, and with them will disappear the loop's most notable reminders of Victorian grandeur, carved walnut and red plush.

The Grand probably will be the second of the quartet to go, as under the terms of the present lease it must be rebuilt before Jan. 1, 1924. Powers, known to a by-gone theatre-going generation as Hooley's Theatre, and which for nearly 50 years has held the unquestioned prestige as the theatre in which the most illustrious actors preferred to appear, is to give way to an addition to the Hotel Sherman. A new play house may be incorporated in the hotel extension, but this point has not been definitely decided.

Owners of the Olympic are planning to rebuild that house as soon as conditions are favorable.

Oldest Theatre in City
James H. McVicker, founder of the theatre which still bears his name, was the song and dance comedian in Chicago's early quartette of theatrical landmarks. A traveling company brought him here in the early days, and in 1877 he built his first theatre on the spot where the present playhouse—now devoted to continuous vaudeville—stands. The theatre immediately became the most important center of dramatic activity in the middle west. Its opening was a great event, and nightly thereafter afforded amusements left its doors after the performance for the Bull's Head Tavern and the fashionable outlying suburbs of Cottage Grove, now part of the near South side.

McVicker installed a resident stock company which "supported" a notable succession of visiting stars—Charlotte Cushman, Edwin Booth, the elder Sothern, J. H. Buckett, Lotta Crabtree, Lawrence Barrett, Charles Kean, and many others. Here Edwin Booth met Mary McVicker, the manager's daughter, whom he afterwards married. Here, when Lincoln was shot, there was double mourning, for the assassin, J. Wilkes Booth, had played McVicker's often. Here, in 1866, "The Black Crook" had its phenomenal Chicago run of fifty-six nights.

Rebuilt After Fire
The theatre was destroyed in the great fire of 1873, and was the first playhouse to be rebuilt after the disaster. In 1890 it was again destroyed by fire, and the present structure dates from its restoration in 1892.

The medicine show magnate was John A. Hamlin and the minstrel manager Richard M. Hooley. Both were identified with the early days of the present Grand Opera House. In 1870 Hooley, who had made a fortune with his minstrel troupes, bought Bryan Hall, a concert auditorium, rebuilt it and prepared to open Hooley's Opera House. The fire of 1871 destroyed the theatre on the very night before it was to be opened and swept his fortune away.

Grand Opening in 1888
In 1875 Hamlin, famous throughout the country for his Lincoln's Wizard Oil, built the largest billiard hall in the world on the site of the former opera house. Later he enlarged and turned it into a beer garden, which in turn became Hamlin's Theatre in 1878, and in 1880, after extensive alterations, was reopened under the former name of the Grand Opera House. The flamboyant announcement of the opening said:

"Special Notice
The management begs to present to the public some of its many claims to supremacy in

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia all start with a cold. At the first sign of fever, the moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that goes right after congestion (which is what a cold really is) and restores normal circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the unpleasant stinging and blistering. During the big "Flu" epidemic several years ago Musterole was used in our training camps. The Y. M. C. A. War Board sent thousands of jars to our boys in France. Doctors have been recommending it to their patients for years.

Just rub it on the congested parts with your finger tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

If there are colds in your house get Musterole on the job at once. It may prevent serious illness. It is a good plan to have Musterole always on the bathroom shelf for the emergency.

Sold by all druggists, 25c and 60c. In jars and tubes; hospital size $2.00.

The attraction for this grand opening was "A Child of the State."

After the fire Hooley, the minstrel man, exchanged the site of the Grand for another on Randolph street and there for many years operated Hooley's theatre, now the Powers, remodeled somewhat but essentially the same as it was fifty years ago.

The circus men, Charles E. Kohl and George Middleton, launched the Olympic on its present regime. They had been followers of P. T. Barnum and had started in Chicago as proprietors of dime museums. Its origin as a place of amusement dates back to the early sixties, when Wood's museum occupied part of the site, with Kingsbury Hall, home of a modest stock company venture, at the rear.

THE ECCENTRICITIES OF SOUND
The calculated velocity of sound in the air, when the temperature is at freezing point, is 315.50 feet per second. When the temperature increases sound travels faster, and the rate has been calculated at a little more than one foot per second for each degree of rise of Fahrenheit's thermometer. Contrary to popular belief, sounds travel faster in summer than in winter, and are warmer than in cold climates. It might be thought that sound would travel more slowly through dense atmosphere, but the elasticity increases as rapidly as the density, and, therefore, the velocity of sound is not affected by varying density. The velocity of sound in water, when at the greatest density is 4707.4 per second. The experiments by which this velocity was determined were made by M. Colladon, in 1826, across the Lake of Geneva, from Rolle to Thonon, a distance of about nine miles. Winter, therefore transmits sound four times as fast as air does.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have pains in the back; when you have severe headaches, nervous and, dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to neutralize the acids, thus ending disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally, to keep the kidneys clean and active.

POPULATION OF STATE INSTITUTIONS DOUBLE NUMBER 20 YEARS AGO

Marked Increase in Crime Indicated by Report of State Board of Control

MADISON, Wis.—The population of state and county institutions has practically doubled in the last twenty years, according to tables just compiled by the state board of control. The number in state institutions in 1901 was only 2,354, in 1921 as compared with 5,076 on the last day of 1921. County asylums had 3,569 inmates in 1901 as compared with 6,385 in 1921.

That there has been a great increase in crime in young men is shown by the fact that while in 1901 there were only 141 in the state reformatory, there were 353 there in 1921 and many others committed there were in county jails awaiting discharge of inmates before they could be admitted to the Green Bay institution. This far exceeds the growth of the population at the state prison at Waupun which grew from 523 to only 746 in the same twenty year period. The Industrial School for Boys had 330 in 1901 which had only increased to 405 in 1921. The Industrial School for Girls at Milwaukee was not established until 1918 when 229 were admitted. Number of inmates at that institution has only increased by nine during the three year period.

Among the institutions for the insane the state hospital had 438 inmates in 1901 which had grown to 683 by 1921. The Northern hospital at Oshkosh had 592 in 1901 as compared with 648 in 1921. The Central State hospital, started in 1914, had 43 that year as compared with 109 at the end of the seven year period.

More than double the number of feeble-minded are now in the Home for the Feeble Minded. There were only 471 inmates in 1901 while last year saw the maximum of 1,060. This is the largest state institution, 1,000,000 miles in diameter.

The state sanatorium for tuberculosis patients had but 51 in 1908 while this has doubled with 161 present there in 1921 and an additional 22 at the Tomahawk Lake camp established four years ago.

Only two institutions have seen a reduction in the number they have cared for in the 20-year period. The State School for the Deaf at Delavan had but 152 in 1921 while it had 189 in 1901. The State School for the Blind at Janesville also had a reduction with 114 in attendance in 1901 and only 106 in 1921.

Aerial Tramway
An aerial tramway 26 miles long will be built to bring a high grade plate glass sand to the San Diego and Arizona railway.

Diameter of Star
Arenurus, fixed star of the first magnitude is estimated to be 48,000,000 miles in diameter.

Slump in Swiss Watch Trade
The Swiss watchmaking industry is in the doldrums, and has despairingly appealed to the government for a subsidy. 32,000 watchmakers are idle in spite of the fact that watches are being offered at practically cost price. The reason is that the United States is making better and cheaper watches.

CONSIDER REFORMS FOR AUSTRALIA'S MOVIE INDUSTRY

Report of Education Council Shows Sixty-six Million Attend Movies in Year

SYDNEY, N. S. W. (By Mail) — Many reforms regarding the exhibition of motion pictures, with special regard to the attendance of children at the performances, were recommended today in an official report by the Victorian Council of Education. One of the recommendations proposed the prohibition of any picture encouraging disloyalty.

The total attendance at the 800 picture theatres in Australia for the year ending June 30, 1920, was 66,000,000, out of a total attendance of 91,000,000 at all amusements, the report stated. During the current year the record showed an average attendance of 2,000,000 weekly at film theatres. Australia has a picture show for every 6,250 of population, the United States has one for every 6,000 and Great Britain has one for every 5,800, the report said.

Examination of 14 Melbourne schools showed that 45 per cent of the children attended film exhibitions more than once a week, 11 per cent attended twice a week and 69 per cent went once or often a week. Of these, 20 per cent reached home after the family had retired, 37 per cent attending at night, while 40 per cent attended in the afternoon, with 23 per cent attending both day and night. The committee expressed the opinion that no child under 15 years of age should be allowed to attend after 6:30 p. m. on any school day.

Even more drastic action has been proposed in New South Wales where a district magistrate, dealing with a number of youthful defendants, was requested by the prosecutor, a representative of the school department and by the inspector of the state children's relief department, to order that the offenders should be prevented from attending picture shows for some time. The prosecutor contended that attendance at picture theatres undoubtedly had had a bad influence upon the children. The court did not accede to the request, pointing out that he could not impose such a sentence legally.

Frost's Purifying Qualities
By its formation on trees and plants frost has an important beneficial effect, as its purifying quality is exercised on the air. Science tells us that the filtering of all the air that passes through foliage gathers the nitrogenous gases given off which, being returned again to the soil, acts as nutrient to vegetation. — S. K. "Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

SHIPPING IN BALTIC SEA IS ENDANGERED BY FLOATING MINES

Derelict Submarines also Sighted in Waters West of Europe

STOCKHOLM — Ghosts of the great war still haunt the Baltic, searing veteran skippers, sailors, fishermen and steamship passengers alike. Hardly a week passes without reports along the Swedish coast of drifting old mines and derelict submarines, both a serious danger to all navigation. The mines are principally of Russian and German origin, and after breaking loose from their moorings they have drifted toward the east shore of Sweden. Many of them have been washed ashore on Gotland island which lies almost in the center of the Baltic.

storms have washed mines upon the coast and dwellers along the shore have long since become accustomed to the terrific detonations of exploding mines buried against cliffs during heavy gales. Energetic efforts have been made to sweep up these dangerous relics of war, but it will probably be years before either the North Sea or the Baltic is free of them.

It is not at all uncommon for fishermen to catch mines in their nets. They are regarded as lucky catches, although they have to be handled carefully, for the government pays handsomely for the removal or destruction of the mines. If satisfactory proof of their discovery or destruction can be furnished.

The U-boat derelicts are said to have been discarded English vessels lost when being towed from British ports to Copenhagen. The menace to navigation from these sources is such that passenger and merchant vessels have to change their schedules in the Baltic and traverse the danger zones only by daylight.

Lately there has been little property damage and no loss of life as the result of the floating U-boat derelicts and mines. Nevertheless Swedish marine insurance companies have of late been threatening to raise their rates on account of this danger to navigation.

The Englishman agreed and stepped up to a newsie, saying: "Hello, youngster. Look at your nose and tell me what time it is."

Unto the End
"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pall bearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?"

"No, judge, that's all right. Those fellows have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job."

"Overland Route"

The term "Overland Route" was applied to the old-time route to California as distinguished from the route via the isthmus of Panama. The term was first used, however, for the route from Europe to India via Egypt, the desert and Suez. It was in contrast to the route to the Cape route by the Cape of Good Hope, which was by water only. The opening of the Suez canal in 1869 having all but superseded the Cape route, the term "overland route" as applied to this route is now obsolete.

WETS FEARFUL THAT MEXICO'S CAPITAL MAY SOON GO DRY

Obregon Back of Measures to Cut Down Drinking and Finally Eliminate Intoxicants

MEXICO CITY.—The "wets" in Mexico are greatly alarmed. They say there is a real possibility that Mexico City, at least, may go "dry" before the end of the year and that if so, the next step would be to make the entire republic arid of alcohol, beer and beverages.

President Obregon does not say that he is a prohibitionist but within the past few months he has given his unqualified support to certain legal measures which aim to cut down drinking and eventually to put intoxicants under the ban.

Saloons, clubs and cantinas have been put under more rigid restrictions and, only a few weeks ago, a presidential decree increased the federal revenue tax on alcoholic drinks 100 per cent. There are many rumors that these taxes will be automatically increased till they become prohibitive.

Nationwide protest was heard several days ago when the newspapers said that President Obregon contemplated issuing a decree forbidding the planting and cultivating of the maize plant which is the basic ingredient of the most popular native drink.

The maize, which is a species of corn, must be replanted every seven years and a decree prohibiting its cultivation would mean its extermination and with it the elimination of tequila, mesquite and pulque, drinks of undisputed potency.

Planters of maize rushed numerous petitions to President Obregon, pointing out that the plant is a part of the agricultural wealth of the nation in that it produces a valuable fiber, sugar, a base for paper and a medicine, that is said to be specific for kidney disease. It was said also that its spines, treated by an inexpensive process, make cheap and excellent phonograph needles.

President Obregon has not yet issued the decree—but the planters are still worried and so are certain other persons.

The "wets" have held numerous meetings within the past few weeks to organize their campaign against prohibition.

STATE'S GENERAL FUND BROUGHT UP TO FOUR MILLION

Treasury Replenished by Highway Aid and Taxes from Insurance and Telephone

MADISON, Wis.—The state treasury was replenished during the past month by receipts of highway money from the federal government and from insurance company and telephone taxes, so that the general fund on March 1 amounted to $4,133,500, Henry Johnson, state treasurer, announced Friday.

The total balance in all funds on the first of this month was $6,222,967 compared to $5,531,536 in February 1. On that date the general fund amounted to $3,784,730.

During the past month one insurance company has paid a tax of $412,000 with other companies adding $200,000 to that amount, while telephone companies have paid taxes amounting to nearly $200,000. The federal government has turned over several hundred thousands of dollars in highway money to the general fund.

The general highway tax, levied for the last time this year will bring in $1,700,000 during this month, which other taxes are expected to largely increase the funds.

Less than $30,000 was taken from the service recognition fund during the month, leaving $336,633 for the University General Hospital fund. The service recognition fund has already authorized expenditure of $750,000 of this amount for construction of the hospital which is held up pending Governor Baine's signature to the contracts.

CARE OF WILD LIFE IMPORTANT ELEMENT IN STATE WELFARE

Minnesotan Declares Game Preservation is of Vital Importance

6 MILLION BIRDS KILLED
IN TWO YEARS IN MINNESOTA

Tri-States Have Largest Herd of Deer in U.S. He Says

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The fostering and preservation of wild life "is of importance to the happiness, material prosperity and general welfare of all citizens," Carlos Avery, game and fish commissioner of Minnesota, declared in an address Friday before the Tri-State development conference here.

The protection of wild animals and birds, he said, "involves the maintenance of an important element of the food supply, affects commerce and agriculture, horticulture and forestry, and wild animal life has come to be appreciated by the general public as a natural resource of sufficient consequence to be worthy of serious conservation efforts."

Mr. Avery outlined the value of the game birds, deer and fish taken each year in the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, and told how they were of increasing importance to the general welfare of those three states.

Millions of Birds Killed

"During the three year period from 1919 to 1921 inclusive there have been 5,994,403 birds killed in Minnesota alone, with a like number probably taken in Michigan and Wisconsin," Mr. Avery said. "This shows a larger bag of game birds than the wildest dreamer would have imagined, notwithstanding the serious hardships which have been made on the game bird supply and the sad depletion which has taken place everywhere."

"The three states, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, similar in physical characteristics, have the largest deer herd in America and can keep this great asset if they are wise. While the supply has been depleted to some extent, it is still very large and constitutes the most important single wild life item from the fish supply."

Conserving Deer

The record of deer killed in the three states shows that in Wisconsin the number fell from 25,000 in 1919 to 5,000 in 1921 to 12,500 in 1922 with application of this law, which protects female and fawns. "Minnesota has not yet adopted this common sense and scientific method of conserving the deer supply," Mr. Avery said.

A survey of the value of fish annually taken in the waters of the three states is placed at $28,122,740 by Mr. Avery who bases his estimates on reports from conservation commissions. The value of fish taken in Wisconsin waters last year is placed at $7,915,970, that from Michigan $9,216,308 and from Minnesota $11,290,262.

"Nowhere else in the United States is opportunity afforded for the variety and extent of artificial propagation of fresh water game and food fishes as in this group of states," Mr. Avery said. "From the first settlement of the country it has been an angler's paradise and an unfailing source of supply of food."

The speaker showed that Wisconsin had hatched 308,744,225 fish last year, Minnesota 243,109,000 and Michigan 108,833,000 to replenish their streams and lakes.

Game Refuge Effective

"Game refuges have been found to be one of the most effective methods of conserving wild life," Mr. Avery declared. "Minnesota has set aside 7,055,000 acres of land and water as game refuges on which all valuable forms of wild animals and birds are protected at all times."

"Appreciation of the same principle is being made to fishes. Trout streams and suitable ponds, and bays in con-recession with lakes are being closed to angling to permit recuperation by natural increase.

Drainage of marsh and swamp areas was said to be one of the most perplexing of conservation problems. Little consideration has been given, Mr. Avery said, to the vast multitude of drainage projects to their effect upon wild animals, while in fact the breeding areas of the multitudes of waterfowl which formerly were hatched and reared in our states have almost wholly disappeared. He suggested a broader drainage policy that would take these matters into consideration.

TELEPHONE RATES TO BE BOOSTED IN STORM-HIT AREA

MADISON, Wis.—Telephone rates in that belt of Wisconsin that was so severely hit by the recent storm are probably due for an increase in the future. Reports to the state railroad commission indicate that some of the rural companies lost as much as half of their original investment in the total destruction of poles and lines.

While no applications for increase of rates have been received as yet, there will undoubtedly be several cases as direct result of the storm. The belt in which most telephone companies were so severely hit extends across the state from Appleton on the north as far south as Beaver Dam.

POSSIBILITY OF MINERS' STRIKE FACING CANADA

CALGARY, Alta.—A strike affecting 60,000 coal miners in western Canadian fields is threatened on April 1. Robert Lavett, chairman of the local committee of the United Mine Workers of America, declared Friday that a walkout was possible in the event that wage reductions announced here were put into effect. The territory affected is in District No. 18, comprising Southern Alberta and part of Eastern British Columbia.

The gorilla is the nearest approach to the human species of all the apes.

FLORIDA TOWN HAS OLDEST POSTOFFICE BUILDING IN U. S.

Structure at St. Augustine Believed to Have Been Erected in Fifteenth Century

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—St. Augustine is believed to possess the oldest postoffice building in the country. Postmaster Charles F. Hopkins, after a research extending over a period of two years, has received copies of official records in the "Archives of the Indies" at Seville, Spain, showing that the structure he now occupies was constructed sometime between 1568 and 1604 by one Gonzalo Mendez. The king of Spain purchased the building in 1604 as a residence for the Spanish governors of Florida and it served as such until Florida was transferred to the United States in 1821.

In the archives at Seville were found official "Letters and Dispatches of the Governors of Florida sent in Council from the Years 1568 to 1610," and one referring to the purchase of a house for the governor and when arrived they lodged me in a house which was built over the ruins and it was so cold and damp that two governors have died here. These governors were Gutierrez de Miranda and Don Juan Martinez de Avendaño. Even the owner himself has never been well in it, nor have I been so since my arrival.

"For this reason, there being no house to live in here, Gonzalo Mendez decided to build one and this he did in a good location.

"It is proposed by the officials of Your Majesty here that Your Majesty purchase said house of Gonzalo Mendez as a dwelling for the governors. They have these dwellings everywhere but here."

The records show the petition was approved and the building was appraised at $10,500 by officials named for that purpose. After some bargaining, however, Mendez agreed to take $10,000 cash for the structure, and it was purchased for that price.

Mild Reproof

Attache Akira Ono of the Japanese embassy, was talking at a dinner about the outcry against the wearing of one-piece bathing suits by girls.

"If a girl is a swimmer," he said, "why shouldn't she wear this one-piece suit? Why burden herself with a skirt and stockings when she wants to swim?"

These beach benders could learn a lesson from the Japanese princess to whom a visiting English woman said:

"I saw a Japanese girl bathing in a river quite naked yesterday. Is it thought modest for women to bathe naked in Japan?"

"It is not thought immodest," said the princess, for women to bathe naked in Japan, but it is thought very immodest to look at them when they are bathing."

When the bride promises to obey she waives her rights; but it isn't a permanent waiver.—Lincoln Star.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It constipates, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "Cal.ifornia Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

NEW TWAIN ANECDOTES BY MARK'S FIRST SWEETHEART

ILLINOIS, Mo.—"Becky Thatcher," winsome little schoolgirl in the adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, known to thousands of Mark Twain readers, is a real, living, breathing person!

She's Mrs. Laura Frazier, 86, matron of the Home for the Friendless here. She was Mark Twain's first sweetheart.

Twain made Mrs. Frazier—or Laura Hawkins, as she was known as a girl—one of the best known female characters in fiction.

For "Tom Sawyer" not only has been widely read in America and England but has been translated into almost every European tongue.

Mrs. Frazier knows more about the youth of Mark Twain—when the humorist actually lived the adventures of Tom Sawyer—than any other living person.

"Mark and I started going to school the same year," Mrs. Frazier says. "He was seven and I was six. Our houses were across the street from each other right here in Hannibal."

Long, Golden Curls

"Mark had long, golden curls hanging over his shoulders. He used to carry my books to school every morning and carry them home in the afternoon."

"And he'd treat me to apples and oranges and divide his candy with me."

"In the winter Mark spent most of his time on the ice. I couldn't skate, but he always arranged for me to go along."

"He used to push me along the ice on a split-bottom chair. He was a fine skater, too—in fact, he was good at anything he undertook."

"The first time I ever saw Mark was on a hot summer day. He came out of his house and started showing off, turning handspins and cutting capers."

"His head hit me and I was thrown to the ground and knocked unconscious. I recall hearing the children talking about how scared Mark was."

One of Mrs. Frazier's most treasured possessions is an invitation to Twain's wedding in the humorist's own handwriting.

The invitation says in part: "Mrs. (married name unknown, formerly Miss Laura Hawkins, first sweetheart of the within

UPSET STOMACH

In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Indigestion
Sourness

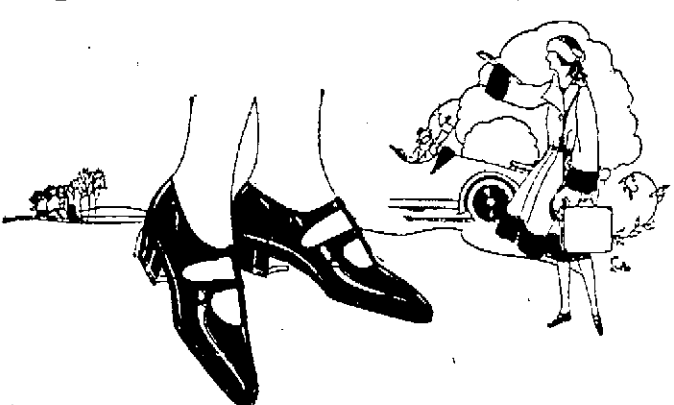

Gases
Acidity

Flatulence
Palpitation

"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain action in regulating sick, sour, zesty stomachs.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large sixty-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

WISCONSIN SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS TO MEET AT MADISON

Convention Called by Association of High and Graded School Boards

MADISON, Wis.—The association of high school and graded school board members is to meet in Madison March 8, for its third annual convention. Delegates from all high school and graded school boards in the state are expected.

General problems of school administration are considered by the convention each year. It is thought that some of the questions that board members will ask the 1922 legislature to consider will be taken up and discussed in an effort to reach an agreement on a definite program for school legislation.

John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction will address the group on the Wisconsin Educational Program. Other speakers have not yet been named.

Officers of the association are W. W. Albers, Wausau, president; Miss Gertrude Sherman, Milwaukee, vice president, and N. T. Gill, Reedsburg, secretary-treasurer.

Old Court Has Much Power

In Liverpool (Eng.) there still exists one of the very few remaining mediæval borough courts of record. At one time there were 215 in various parts of the kingdom. The Liverpool court of passage, as it is called, has practically unlimited jurisdiction in causes of action arising within the city, and has more power than has the City of London court which has jurisdiction only when the defendant is employed in the city itself.

Presidents as Military Men

More than half of the presidents of the United States have held some military rank, according to The American Legion Weekly. Of the whole line of twenty-eight presidents sixteen were generals; Roosevelt was a colonel and military men, and of the succession McKinley was a major.

PHONE LINES INTO SPARTA TO BE DOWN SEVERAL MONTHS

Company to Reinit Rent from Feb. 22 to Time Rural Service is Resumed

SPARTA, Wis.—Manager Howard Teasdale of the Monroe County Telephone company has made the statement that on account of the pole lines and wires being flat for miles out of town in all directions, it will be impossible for the company to furnish any telephone service into the city for months.

The company has decided to reinit all rent to become due from Feb. 22 and to credit on future rent earned, all payments made in advance of Feb. 22 and service will be charged from the time each rural line is put in working order.

After the lines in the city are brought into control, those rural and toll lines that have suffered the least in broken poles, will be brought in first. With the snow and ice two and even four feet deep, we can not attempt to rebuild the rural lines till the frost is out. Mr. Teasdale remarked, "A part of the Canebrake lines will be kept working into their control, but there will be no trunking the central to Sparta until Spring."

Work on the electric light line to Angelo is progressing rapidly and many of the residences were connected up, to receive the current. Thursday night, and the citizens who have been getting along with the sweet silver light of a candle, will be glad to have the juice turned on again (as the expression goes).

The new poles being set, are very much higher than the old poles and will bring the wiring up high enough to be out of reach of many of the lower hanging branches of the trees.

The city has a force of men and teams, making the rounds of the streets gathering up the debris and broken branches and some of the streets begin to look a little more natural, however, the great bulk of the trimming of the trees will have to be put off until the ice melts from the trees.

INGRAM AND BARTON PLAN ART SETTINGS

Artistic Skill Gives to "The Conquering Power," Unusual Beauty

Artistic picture sets with a finish seldom before achieved in screen production serve as a background for Rex Ingram's newest production for Metro, "The Conquering Power," at the Riviera theater Sunday. This is Mr. Ingram's first production to follow "The Four Horsemen of Apocalypse."

The story unfolded before the camera is laid in the provincial town of Noyant, on the Loire. In the telling of the story the most picturesque structures were required. For them Mr. Ingram sought the aid of Rudolph Barton, poster artist, magazine illustrator and formerly a fellow art student with the youthful director.

Together they studied Balzac, consulted innumerable authors and on French architecture and styles and worked out a series of settings that would bring joy to the master of the screen. Days were spent in the arrangement of slight details such as so often are overlooked in the making of a stage or film production.

Alice Terry and Rudolph Valentino, who headed the all star cast in "The Four Horsemen," coast the leading roles in "The Conquering Power."

Old Christmas Customs

It is generally conceded that some of our Christmas customs are survivals of the earlier Roman Saturnalian festival. Holly, box ivy, laurel and bay adorned the Roman houses at this time. It is true, however, that the Druids kept a winter festival, when the priests sent sprigs of holly to each rude Briton but, partly as a peace offering, partly as a reminder to decorate the home with it and thus encourage sylvan spirits to enter and drive away frosts and winter.

Or a Comeback

Mrs. Malaprop—Yes, indeed.
Mrs. Neighbors—Do you know what position he plays?
Mrs. Malaprop—Ain't sure, but I think he's one of the drawbacks.

Great For Bad Coughs and Colds

Make Your Own Medicine and Have the Best There is

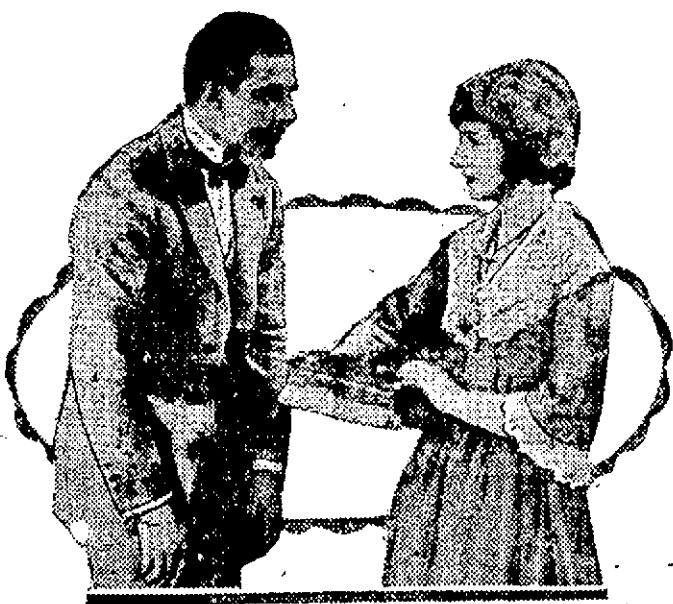

You'll Say It's Good When All Mucus Disappears and Clean Healthy Membrane is Your Reward

Here is an inexpensive home made remedy that you can't beat and one that will quickly bring up that phlegm, stop the snuffling, relieve the clogged nostrils, make breathing easy and cause stubborn colds and persistent coughs to vacate—many times over night.

Try it right away if you suffer from Croup, Chest Colds or any irritating nose or throat trouble and you'll be glad you ran across this little bit of advice.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Epsom (double strength) add to it a little sugar and enough water to make one-half pint. You can make it in two minutes and when it is mixed you can pride yourself on having a medicine that acts directly on the membrane of the nose and throat and acts so effectively that all phlegm, all tickling and inflammation speedily disappears.

EAT MOTHER'S BREAD It's made with milk.

In The MOVIES

"THE SILENT CALL"—RIVOLI

Ever since Jack London created the demand for outdoor animal stories with "The Call of the Wild" and the motion picture has become a general form of entertainment, fans have been asking why the producers of motion pictures should not bend their energies to satisfying this demand on the screen. They have satisfied it and done it plentifully in "The Silent Call," which came to the Rivoli Theater yesterday for a three day run.

The story is one that will satisfy the heart of every one who feels in him the unquenchable longing of nature. There's a vista of mountains upon mountains. There's an abundance of outdoor life. There's romance and action and finally—there's Flash, Flash, we are told, is a Belgian police bound, with a meritorious Red Cross service record who was selected as a motion picture star only after all competitors had been eliminated.

The story brings out the dual nature of man-trained dog and wolf in the canine, Clark Moran, the hero of the picture, arouses the enmity of Brent by saving Flash, chained to a post, from a beating at the latter's hands. The premarital streak in the dog cropping out, he tears himself loose the civilization and mingles with wolves of the hills, selecting as a mate, Naybee, a full-blooded wolf.

The acting of this canine star is almost uncanny as he jumps to his cues, bristling at the sight of Ash Brent, the man he is supposed to hate, and bringing to the fore, Clark Moran and the girl of his choice. And after all there's a moral for the dog in it, because he finds, in his brute analysis, that man is the inevitable tie to which he must bind himself by nature.

"THE WILD GOOSE"—MAJESTIC

Treating the eternal triangle from a new standpoint, at once interesting and novel, "The Wild Goose," a story by Gouverneur Morris was shown at the Majestic theater with no inconsiderable success yesterday.

AT THE RIVIERA

"A Trip to Paradise," Bert Lytell's newest starring vehicle at the Riviera Friday and Saturday, is a screen adaptation of a Hungarian drama by Franz Molnar. The American version was written by Benjamin P. Glazer, who also adapted "The Master" for Argold Daly's use on the stage and "The Name is Woman," in which Mary Nash appeared.

The locale of "A Trip to Paradise" has been changed from Hungary to Coney Island, where the leading character, Curley Flynn, played by Bert Lytell, is the barke-in-a-side show called "A Trip to Paradise." It is the story of a man's regeneration through the love of a woman and the influence of a dream.

The Telephone's Monologue

I am a telephone. While I am not broke, I am in the hands of a receiver. I have a mouthpiece, but unlike a woman I never use it. Fellows use me to make dates with girls and girls use me to break said dates. Husbands call their wives over me and wives call their husbands over me. I never get to call anywhere, but sometimes the company comes and takes me out. I am not a bee, but I often buzz. I am the "Bell" of the town, and while I do not get jewelry, I often get rings—Sent from Duluth.—The Northwestern Bell.

BIRTH OF THREE GREAT-GRANDCHILDREN BRINGS DESCENDANTS OF KANSAS WOMAN TO 247; SHE WILL BE 98 YEARS OLD IN APRIL

SABETHA, Kan. — Mrs. Bertha Perkins, who will be 98 years old next April, found a real thrill recently when three additional great-grand children arrived in three Sabetha homes, within a period of 18 hours. They brought the number of her descendants up to 247.

Mrs. Perkins' five generations of descendants are divided as follows: 10 children, eight of whom are living.

15 grandchildren,
155 great-grandchildren,
25 great-great-grandchildren,
Nine great-great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Perkins was born in Virginia, April 25, 1824; married David Perkins in Ohio, March 18, 1843. Her maiden name was Bertha Carcum. In 1848 they emigrated to Iowa, and in 1857 took a homestead in this—Neosho county—where she has lived ever since. Mr. Perkins died in 1883.

"Good and old-fashioned cooking," is the recipe Mrs. Perkins gives for her longevity. "It is no wonder people do not live to old age like they used to, considering the rich foods they put in their stomachs nowadays. People do not eat enough coarse food. Unbaked ones or twice a day would improve their health. Here are a few of her ideas as she expressed them:

"I believe women should aid their husbands in voting right, but do not

Mrs. Synder Found the Magic Word

Housecleaning is no longer a burden with Mrs. Synder. She found that the one word—Rub-No-More—means "Magic" during housecleaning.

And she found this all out at her grocers. Upon his shelves she saw some R. N. M. White Naphtha Soap alongside of a number of packages of Rub-No-More Washing Powder, Yellow Naphtha Soap, Soap Flakes and Spotless Cleanser.

These reminded her of last Fall when she cleaned house with these products. As if by magic—her work was easier, more economical and all cleaning finished in less than half the usual time. Moral: "Let the Rub-No-More Elephants do your housecleaning."

The Old Post Road—1788

The old road between New York and Albany was, for the greater part of the way, but a rough belt through a virgin forest. Occasionally a farmer had cleared a few acres, the lawns of a manor house were open to the sun, the road was varied by the majesty of Hudson and Palisades for a brief while or by the precipitous walls of mountains, so thickly wooded that even the wind barely flattered their somber depths.—Gertrude Atherton.

A FOOD A DISEASE PREVENTATIVE A STIMULANT

Whether one is performing hard physical labor, or difficult mental work, milk is the ideal chief food. It is a perfectly balanced food and lends itself perfectly to the requirements of the case. It is nature's own food. Few people realize the vast amount of energy that must be consumed in food. The ideal food is the one that contains the least amount of wastes—and practically every particle of the food-value in milk is assimilated. Then, too, it supports every function of the body.

From the standpoint of health-and-disease milk plays a highly important part. Health departments of the country show by their records that wherever the consumption of milk is large tuberculosis has been held in check. In all institutions where tuberculosis is treated milk is used in large quantities. Milk-consuming races are stronger physically and mentally, and are longer lived, than those using a relatively smaller amount of the life-giving fluid. Children who were backward in their studies have shown a marked improvement when placed upon a milk diet.

COUNTY MUST MAKE GOOD UNPAID TAXES IS BROSSARD RULING

MADISON, Wis.—County treasurers must pay all delinquent taxes in excess of state and county levies to town treasurers, even though the funds are made into the funds of the county, E. E. Brossard, assistant attorney general, held Friday in an opinion to Oliver J. Straub, district attorney of Lincoln county.

The district attorney asked if it was necessary for the county to make good the delinquencies of tax payers who are unable to meet the levies against their property. Bad financial conditions, he said, on account of high taxes, had made it almost impossible for the county to dispose of tax certificates issued on unpaid taxes last year, and he anticipated a similar situation this spring.

Mr. Brossard said that the statutes were explicit on the matter, and that county officials were required to meet the delinquencies.

WISCONSIN TO HAVE STRONG ENTRIES IN TRACK MEET EVENTS

To Compete in Indoor Track Carnival With Illinois Saturday, March 4

VETERAN TRACK MEN TO MAKE UP BADGER SQUAD

Sundt to Put Shot for the Cardinal Again

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin will be represented at the Illinois indoor track carnival, March 4, by strong entries in all events. Veteran track men will make up the Badger squad, which expects to come through the meet with a standing among the leaders.

Injury to Finkle, Wisconsin's leading two-mile runner, broke his leg at Notre Dame, handicaps the four-mile relay team which was counted on for a win. In the other three relays, the mile, two mile, and mile, the Badgers will have experienced entries.

Spetz, Johnson, Stolley and Wade make up the mile team. The first three are all W. men in the dashes, while Wade is a newcomer, who is showing speed. In the two mile relay, Ramsay, Wade, Hoffelt and Wille make up the team, all of them men with experience, except Wade.

Fast Combination
Spetz, Johnson, Ramsay and Wade in the middle event are one of the fastest combinations in the conference. Each of the men has won his better in the distance he runs and each is regarded as a leader among conference track athletes. Spetz and Johnson in the dashes, Ramsay in the half-mile and Wade in the mile are depended on by Coach Jones to place high in the event.

Captain Knollin has been chosen by Coach Jones to compete for individual all-round championship honors. He is entered in the 75 yard dash, and the 75 yard high and hurdles.

Dale Merrick who ran the conference pole vault last year will enter the event at Urbana, while Wade, who won the mile race in the 1921 conference meet will again be an entry in the 1000 yard and 1500 yard runs.

Other Experienced Men
Besides Knollin in the hurdles, the Badgers have Stolley and Dewell both experienced men. Platten and Gibson in the high jump are counted on for places with Sundt and Capen expected to score in the broad jump.

Sundt, who placed third in the conference last year, will again put the shot for the Badgers.

The loss of Finkle for the remainder of the present season at least, breaks up the well-balanced Wisconsin team that would otherwise have been available for the conference during the present year. He was counted on as a sure first place man in the two mile, having won the conference Cross country race and recently broken the indoor Wisconsin two-mile record by nearly three seconds.

TOLEDO BOWLERS SET PACE AT A. B. C. MEET

TOLEDO, Ohio.—O. Fehn and C. Hartman of Toledo set the pace in the doubles of the American Bowling congress tournament Thursday afternoon with a score of 1,167. G. Kehn and O. Summers, also of Toledo, bowled into second place with 1,163. A new leader appeared in the individuals when A. Cooper of Toledo scored 611 for his three games. It was the only 600 score of the tournament to date. Thursday night marked the beginning of the competition of the visiting bowlers.

The bases are filled, two men are out, there are two strikes and three balls on the batter. On the next pitch the runner starts to advance. The pitch is high and outside, making him pitch out. The batter swings and misses, sending the runner back to first base. The runner comes up from second over the third base and stumbles in so doing. A snap throw from the catcher to the third baseman puts him out before he can reach the base. When the runner is called for the third out, the runner comes home from third in a dash about 10 feet from the plate. In the meantime the side has been retired. Can a run count after three outs have been made?

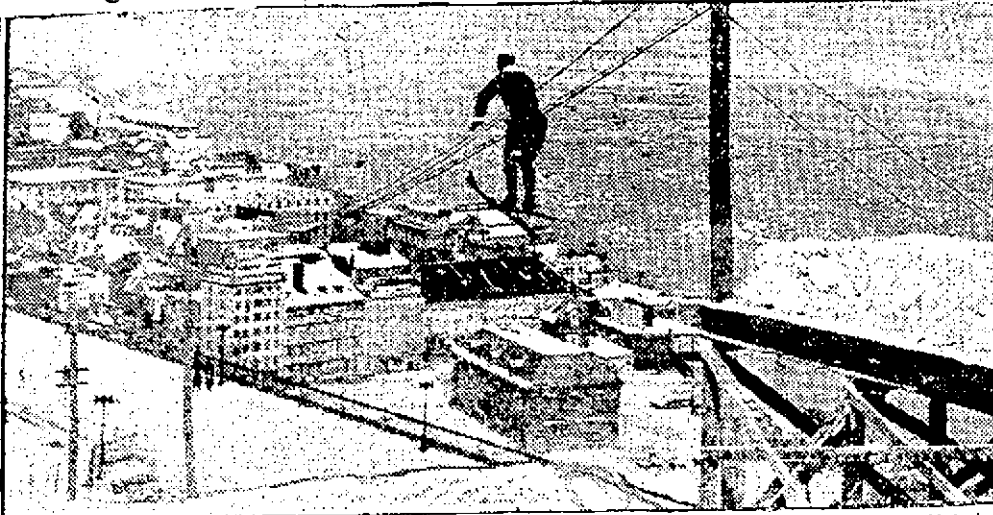

In the case cited, the run scores, despite the fact the side is retired before the runner reaches the plate. With the bases filled, and the batter man receiving a base on balls, the runner on third was entitled to score. He cannot be deprived of that right because of foolish base running on the part of the runner entitled to advance to third.

So Sorry to Trouble
A woman in an Ohio hotel came down to the office one evening and asked if she could get a glass of water. The clerk, a young man, who was the "disappeared" with it, returning quickly for another.

"I'm sorry to trouble you," she said. The clerk assured her that it was no trouble but when she returned for a third glass and then a fourth he became curious and asked her what she wanted with so much water.

"I know you'll just scum when I tell you," she said, "but I'm trying to put out a fire in my room."—American Legion Weekly.

2 NORMALS CANCEL DATES WITH KEELER'S BASKETBALL QUINT

Whitewater and Milwaukee Schools Refuse to Play Return Games on Local Floor

The basketball season for the crack normal school team ended with the Luther college game last Saturday. Both Whitewater and Milwaukee normals, which were scheduled to play here this week, have cancelled their dates and forfeited their games rather than make the trip to La Crosse where almost certain defeat was in store for them.

Under the conference rules teams performing regularly scheduled games are required to put a cash forfeit, and the other team is credited with a technical victory. The failure of Whitewater and Milwaukee to play their games, gives La Crosse a record of eight conference games won.

It is reported that Milwaukee normal is to meet Oshkosh normal in a game Saturday night. Oshkosh is the only other normal school team in the state that has gone through the season undefeated in a conference match.

Unless a game is scheduled between the Keelerites and the Oshkosh aggregation, the season for the locals is at an end. A conference of the athletic authorities of the normal school will be held today. In Pres. Cotton's office to consider the conditions of the Oshkosh challenge, and to arrange terms for a game between the two schools if possible.

BELIEVES FOUR INCH HORN LAW SHOULD AGAIN BE ENACTED

Opinion of W. E. Barber, Chairman of State Conservation Commission

MADISON, Wis.—That the four inch horn law, recently repealed to substitute the one year old buck law, should again be enacted is the opinion of Chairman W. E. Barber of the state conservation commission. Mr. Barber believes that the four inch horn law is the only safe line of demarcation in distinguishing a fawn from a year old deer.

"There is no doubt in the minds of the commission," said Mr. Barber, "that we have plenty of deer in Wisconsin and with a properly observed buck law deer hunting will continue as long as we have range and covers for the animals."

"The changing of the old law, which provided that only bucks with horns 4 inches in length could be taken, and providing that bucks less than one year of age could be taken, cause a great deal of confusion. The four-inch horn law should be re-established. It is the only safe line of demarcation, distinguishing a fawn from a year old deer."

Reports show that 4,005 deer were killed in the state last fall. But we

WINONA IS FOE OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL BASKETEERS TODAY

Upriver Team Strengthened by Indigibles of the First Semester

When the La Crosse high school tossing experts, under the direction of Coach Keegan meet the Winona aggregation tonight, the result is sure to be a game such as that seen two weeks ago when Madison invaded the local camp. The upriver city is determined to avenge their defeat of the early part of the season.

Since the February graduations the Winona team has been strengthened by the addition of new material indigible at the beginning of the season, while the La Crosse team has lost several valuable men. This balances the teams so that a good game is assured. The local squad has been drilled in offensive tactics, especially in acquiring an eye for the basket. Winona will no doubt show the same flash of speed displayed on their home floor when La Crosse played them there. They have not lost a game since that contest.

La Crosse has only two more scheduled games, both on the local floor. A week from this coming Saturday, the Red and Black meet their old rival Sparta.

The management has provided for the same seating arrangements for the game tonight as that used for the Madison game. A crowd of at least 1500 is expected to witness this event. A student mixer will follow the game.

Y. W. C. A. BASKETBALL TEAM MEETS NORMAL SIX ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Marshal Foch's Advice
"The way to move forward is by patience, by earnest endeavor, by diligent study, by tireless work," says Marshal Foch, who did a fair share of moving forward during the war. "Plan your battle of life in advance. Map out every detail of what you want to accomplish, and then follow out your program." The marshal gives his formula for success in two sentences: "He who hesitates is lost. He who moves forward wins."

WILLS KAYOS KID NORFOLK THURSDAY IN SECOND ROUND

NEW YORK.—Harry Wills, New Orleans negro heavyweight, is to be pitted as a result of his victory over Kid Norfolk Thursday night, for a title match with Jack Dempsey.

Norfolk, a Baltimore product, went to the canvas after 26 seconds of boxing in the second round of his match with Wills last night. Several persons claimed to have seen the blow which sent the kid down, but it escaped the notice of a majority of those at the ringside.

Wills and the referee, Kid McPartland, said the knockout blow was a short inside right to the jaw.

Dempsey Thursday night again expressed his willingness to defend his title against Wills, and Governor Edwards of New Jersey said he would approve such a match in his state if the public demanded it.

WABASH DOWNS PURDUE QUINTET BY 37 TO 27 SCORE

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Big Ten champions, by virtue of their victory over Indiana last Saturday and Illinois' defeat by Michigan, the Purdue basketball team went down to defeat Thursday night, Wabash winning a hard fought game, 37 to 27.

Purdue used reserves until the second half, and Wabash had a lead of 17 points when Coach Lambert, sent in the Purdue regulars.

The fact that Crownhart was once chairman of the state industrial commission has given him an acquaintance which seems to prompt many to urge his appointment for the new position. There are also many letters filed in favor of Daniel R. Grady of Portage.

MORE CANDIDATES COMING FORWARD FOR JUSTICESHIP

Charles Crownhart and Judge Stevens Believed Favorites for the place

MADISON, Wis.—When Gov. Blaine returns to Madison next Monday he will find that several new possibilities for the supreme court justiceship have arisen since he left the state. Thomas H. Ryan of Appleton, a candidate for attorney general on the democratic ticket four years ago, is the latest man to be suggested for the position. As time goes on it becomes more apparent that the two leading possibilities are Charles H. Crownhart, former of the statutes, and Circuit Judge E. Ray Stevens of Madison. A number of petitions and letters principally from Sauk and Dane counties have been filed in favor of Judge Stevens from bar associations and farm organizations have been submitted in behalf of Mr. Crownhart.

WORKERS IN HAWAII PLAN ORGANIZATION OF A LABOR UNION

Labor of all Nations to Join in "United Workers of Hawaii"

HONOLULU, T. H.—Workers of all races in Hawaii are considering an international organization among the rank and file to be known as the United Workers of Hawaii, with the aim of readjusting the trade unions in Hawaii and building up an industrial form of organization that will unite in one body all the wage workers without discrimination as to sex, race, creed, craft or color, and gaining a direct voice in the management of industry, according to the preamble to the constitution being voted on by the various bodies.

"We believe that labor is entitled to a voice in the management of industry and has a right to determine the conditions under which it shall function, to the end that it shall receive the full value of what it produces," the preamble continues. "We desire to co-operate to the fullest extent with the various national and international trade unions and with the American Federation of Labor, but we call attention to the fact that conditions in Hawaii are different from those on the mainland or in any other country, and we insist that we are the best judges of our own needs and of the tactics to be followed to secure the ends we have in view."

"The objects of the organization are stated as:
"To bring within the folds of one central organization all human beings who are engaged in the necessary work of society.
"To bring about class-consciousness and solidarity among the workers.
"To educate the working class in modern economic problems and tactics.
"To gain for the workers a direct voice in the management of industry."

Practical

The physician was telling little Johnny's mother about a railroad accident in which a teamster had been crushed from the effects of which he died the same day. Little Johnny, about 6 years old, stood by, greatly interested in the account.

"That doctor," he broke in with his eyes wide open, "with the north hurt?"
"I don't know," said the doctor. "I was more interested in the man, and didn't think of the horse."
"Well, I don't care," Johnny said, taking the doctor's reply as an implied rebuke. "but a live north it's better'n a dead man, anyway."

MICHIGAN U LOANS MONEY TO STUDENTS WITHOUT A LOSS

Loan Department Established for Over Quarter Century
With Perfect Record

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—For more than a quarter of a century, the University of Michigan has been loaning money to needy students, and over that span of years has never lost a cent through willful failure of the borrower to repay.

Several funds now are available under the plan that had its inception with the class of 1894, which established a fund from which the income was to be used as a loan fund for the benefit of the needy and worthy undergraduates in the literary department. Afterwards, surpluses from various class treasures were diverted to the fund, and although in general, the loaning privilege was limited to students of the literary college, a good portion of the money has been made available to students in other branches of the university.

The money is disbursed by R. A. Campbell, treasurer of the university, and the collective fund now approximates $2,000. All loans are subject to approval by the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled, and by the president of the university.

The recommendations of the deans, it is explained, are based principally upon scholarship, and the degree of need. As a general rule, it is stated, students obtaining funds are earning the greater part of their expenses by outside work. College authorities have noticed that loans are sought in practically the same proportion by men and women.

The maximum loan which a student may make at one time is $100, and in general, payment is expected to be made within a year after graduation, with interest at five per cent. In cases where such action is deemed advisable, however, the interest is waived.

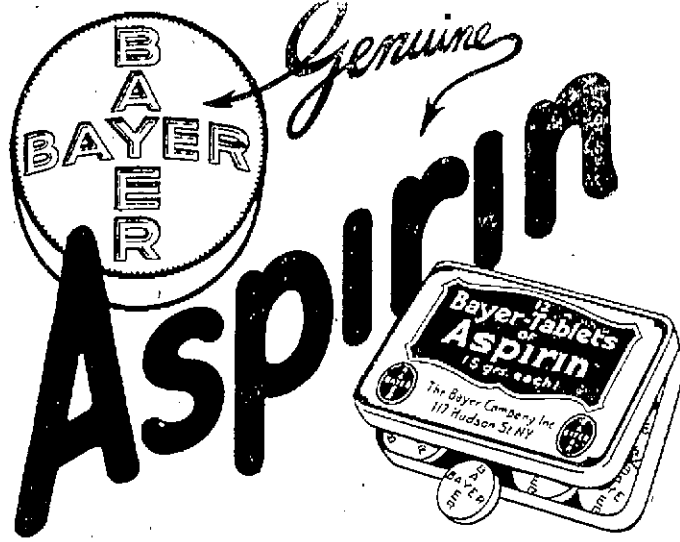

The fund is supposed to have been invented about the year 1894.
